Rittenhouse Smile’s approach to dental care is simple. They believe that patient communication is key. Dental treatment is very unique to each person, and patient expectations cannot be achieved without a thorough conversation. They also take pride in helping anxious patients develop new hope in their routine dental care. They offer more gentle approaches and personalized attention than some patients ever thought were possible.

Never resting on her academic laurels, Dr. Andrea Cronin is an active member in the Philadelphia Chapter of the Spears Study Club, which is nationally recognized and respected throughout the dental profession. “Keeping my knowledge of dentistry current is very important to me,” Cronin says. “However, the referrals that I receive from patients as well from dental colleagues and specialists, who often ask me to treat their friends and family, is what drives my passion. I know that I am doing something special when they trust me with their precious loved ones. I am truly humbled and thankful for 14 years in this amazing field.”

As a result of their dedication to patients’ wellbeing, Rittenhouse Smiles consistently receives glowing reviews from patients, who find that the professional, friendly and efficient staff provide a positive environment and make them feel welcome and comfortable. When patients first check in, they are greeted by their first name, and during their appointment, they receive honest and caring advice from their dentist. With a relaxed office setting and a complimentary wine bar, patients that have dreaded going to the dentists for years find that procedures and examinations don’t have to be feared, and they now look forward to their trip to the dentist.
